Assembly & Usage

- Apply strips of VELCRO® Brand hook vertically on either side of NO symbol as shown below

Early in PECS, we try our best to honor all requests. Not all items are always available, though! We use a variety of strategies to visually signal that an item is not available: we show an empty container, we offer alternatives, we use a token card to signal when the requested items can be 'earned,' or we signal that the learner needs to 'wait.' Sometimes the item is just not available, and we are unsure when it will be.

Never remove pictures from a learner's PECS Communication Book! The Universal NO Page is designed as a unique page for the PECS Communication Book where we move pictures of items that are unavailable. The learner can still exchange a picture but will learn that if the picture is on the NO page, the item is not available. Once the item is available again, move it back into the book where it is normally stored.

To learn more about teaching the concept of "No" attend a workshop or read The PECS Training Manual, 3rd Edition (Bondy and Frost, 2024). Contact Pyramid Educational Consultants at pyramidus@pecs.com or 888-732-7462 for more information.
